

West Virginia Author – Deanna Edens

Angels of the Appalachians

Author: Deanna Edens

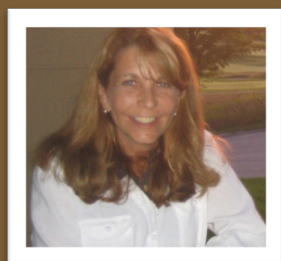

Angels of the Appalachians is a fresh and endearing tale, filled with folksy phrases and amusing adages of the Southern United States. It's the story of two women who meet in 1980, gray-haired Erma telling her life story to Annie, a young college student living in Charleston, West Virginia. The tale she tells is also of two women, and their adventures beginning in the coalfields of Red Ash, growing up near Thurmond, and eventually finding their way to Charleston in 1915.

Strong mountain women, historical places, faith, and grief are themes explored in this account of a friendship that spans across decades.

You will find yourself wishing to call on the fine folks of the Appalachian Mountains, relax for a spell, and stumble upon the angels who made West Virginia so gloriously wild and wonderful.

About the Author

Deanna Jones Edens graduated from Sissonville High School in 1980. She was the owner of Deanna's School of Dance for almost twenty years before moving to Michigan. A graduate of West Virginia State University, Marshall University, and John Hopkins University, she currently works as a Superintendent of Schools and teaches college classes part-time. All of her books are available on Amazon and she donates proceeds from her book sales to her local Humane Society.

Other Books by Deanna Edens

Rosa's Castle

Released June 2016

Erma's Attic (Angels of the Appalachians Book 2)

Released March 2016

Molly's Memoir

Released October 2015

The Bluewater Bays Series:
Welcome to Bluewater Bay,
Christmas Comes to Bluewater Bay,
Mystery in Bluewater Bay, and Love
Blooms in Bluewater Bay

#1 Best Sellers in Southern United States History

Angels of the Appalachians
Molly's Memoir